Limited tickets available for public to join military tribute brewing company shareholders’ event that includes tanks, beer and the most celebrated military veterans of this generation.

America deserves great beer, and a great party.

At least, that’s what Armed Forces Brewing Company believes, and it’s why the military tribute brewing company is opening its first ever “Rally Point” shareholders party to the public.

“We’re on a mission to give back to the brave men and women of the U.S. military who gave so much to us, our families and America,” said Alan Beal, Armed Forces Brewing Company CEO. “We’re hoping that the community will rally with us and join us in raising a glass to those veterans and their families, and that those same veterans and family members will join us, too. It’s gearing up to be a good time.”

Rally Point on November 5 from 1 to 4 p.m. will feature food, beer, lots of tanks and two patriotic national recording artists – Dave Bray USA and Tim Montana – performing at the Americans in Wartime Experience “Tank Farm” at 13906 Aden Road in Nokesville, Virginia.

General admission tickets are available for $30. Armed Forces Brewing Company investors can attend for free. Investment opportunities are available starting at $200.

Founded in 2019, Armed Forces Brewing Company pays homage to both active-duty military and veterans. Its leadership team includes Robert J. O’Neill, the former U.S. Navy SEAL operator who killed Osama Bin Laden. The company ultimately plans to employ at least 70% of its workforce company-wide from American military veterans and their families.

Armed Forces Brewing Company beer is available in stores in four states and by online mail ordering in 41 states. The company recently expanded its distribution into Texas including 197 H-E-B supermarkets and was selected during Walmart’s Open Call sourcing event in August to be distributed in Walmart and Sam’s Club in 2023.

The company is currently raising funds through a Regulation A public stock offering to scale its distribution nationwide. In addition to great-tasting beers, the company is known for its outrageous and patriotic videos publicizing its public stock offering which has already attracted more than 5,800 investors.

Their most popular beers include Preamble – We The People, a light beer made with a single American hop grown by U.S. military veterans; Special Hops IPA, a bold, adventurous American Pale Ale that is a tribute to U.S. Navy SEALs and Cat Shot – an American craft lager that pays homage to pre-prohibition style lagers, naval aviators and aircraft carrier deck crews.
